

Mom Review:
Kaboost

TODDLERS ALWAYS WANT TO DO WHAT the big kids are doing, and it's no different when it comes to mealtime. KABOOST, a revolutionary booster designed by Atlantan Amir Levin, attaches underneath almost any standard four-legged chair by snapping onto the legs – it's actually fast and sturdy. Plus it's lightweight and there's no need to use dirty, communal boosters at restaurants anymore!

If you want a KABOOST of your own, visit www.kaboost.com. $39.95; available in green, chocolate and natural.

"I Fold"

NO, WE'RE NOT SUGGESTING you and your toddler join the World Poker Tour, but www.foldschool.com is worth a few minutes of your time. Foldschool is a site full of downloadable DIY cardboard furniture projects you can make with your kids – stools, chairs and rockers are all possibilities.

All you have to do is print out the free pattern and follow the online instructions. Then paste the paper onto the cardboard, cut out the shape and punch holes in the crosshairs. Finally, fold and glue everything into your finished product.

Guess Who's Coming to Dinner?

WITH THE 2008 PRESIDENTIAL CAMPAIGN in full swing, it's interesting to see what kids think about the candidates. A poll by Scholastic.com asked kids, "Which candidate would you rather have dinner with?" Here are their responses.

Barack Obama	49.3%
Hillary Clinton	29.3%
John Edwards	5.8%
Mike Huckabee	5.8%
Rudy Giuliani	5.3%
Mitt Romney	4.5%

Startling Statistic

Tooth decay remains one of the most common childhood diseases – 5 times as common as asthma and 7 times as common as hay fever.

Safety First

FEBRUARY 3-9 IS BURN AWARENESS WEEK. Use this week to discuss fire safety with your kids. According to the Consumer Product Safety Commission, approximately 1,270 children under age 5 were treated in emergency rooms for gasoline-related injuries from unsecured gas cans. And a scary new trend among teens is the use of gasoline containers as beverage containers.

Shriners Hospitals for Children, known for burn care, created www.burnawarenessweek.org to provide parents with free downloadable resources that can be used for children of any age. Printable coloring pages, videos, facts sheets and more can be found on the site. □
